

A Collaborative Approach to Improvisation

MOMF 2024 Workshop Series (Free Events)

Bring Your Instruments and Voices

I was first drawn to Jazz when I heard the way musicians interact freely off script as if communicating through their own musical language. A common misconception is that improvisation is just made up spontaneously out of thin air. This session will focus on learning a few basic phrases to increase confidence with improvisation and how to develop them into a common language for the ensemble to use conversationally.

Eric is a music educator, composer and performer, a graduate of Minnesota State University and has been teaching since 2010. Listen to Eric's 2019 release, Exhibit A, HERE on Spotify.
